

Hi Parsons Alumni,
 Happy New Year! We are thrilled that a historical documentary about Parsons College is being produced by Fair Field Productions*. Directed by award-winning filmmaker Dick DeAngelis, they already started filming and need to raise only $10,450 more to achieve their target and start full production. Some of you have already given to what we believe will be a fitting tribute to the history of Parsons College. We sincerely hope you will do what you can to help them reach their goal. Thanks.

FINALLY: A FILM ABOUT “PARSONS”

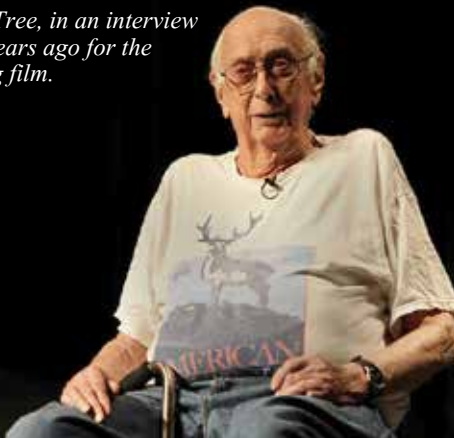

We are thrilled to announce that Fair Field Productions has started production of their fifth film, “Parsons”, which delves into the beginning and the end, the starts and stops, the innovations and foreclosures, the ups and downs of the ninety-eight-year history of Parsons College. The film will give a deeper insight into the influence that this small college had on the town of Fairfield and the many lives that were changed there. They have already begun interviewing alumni and need our help. Link to their other award-winning films.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT:

HISTORICAL RESOURCE:

Fair Field Productions is looking for any old family films you might have that include Parsons-related activities; on campus or off! They will borrow them, make a digital copy and give you back your original plus a digital version for you to pass on to your family or friends. Just call or email them and they will help you.
